of Southern Loyalists. The Senate was engaged most of the day in coning an appropriation bill, and Senator men did not therefore offer his resolution, agreed to by the republican caucus, concerning the preparaon of a bill for the protection of life and property at the South. The understanding is that be will in soduce it to-morrow or Monday. It will probably be discussed by the democrats for a day or two. In the meantime the Judiciary Committee will perfect and report a bill, according to the caucus arrange-ment. There seems still to be great diversity of opinion, even among republicans, on this sub-lect. Those who participated in the Seuate caucus do not appear to be quite agreed as to what action will be taken. Some of them hold that the Senate caucus is not binding in legislative matters, but only as regards nominations for officers of the Senate. At all events, men like Morton and Sherman are determined to make a fight in favor of the passage of some measure for the South. The democrats assert to night that many republicans who attended the cancus do not intend to pass any and that a majority of the members of the Senate Judiciary Committee are opposed to reporting any bill. There is evidently a good deal of demoralization in the republican ranks, but it is believed that both houses will stay here long enough to discuss the condition of the South, even should they be unable to pass a bill to remedy it.

The House did little or nothing and adjourned shortly after two o'clock. General Butler made a fresh attempt to bring his Ku Klux bill before the House and have it printed. Objection, however, persisted in objecting to everything, no matter whether it came from the democratic or the te-Under this condition of affairs the majority thought it best to adjourn. Butler is still bent upon pressing his bill, and Dawes, Garfield and others on the republican side are as ready to oppose It at every point, not to speak of the opposition it as certain to meet from the democrats. Democratic Cancus-An Investigation Into Southern Affairs Supported. adjournment of the House to-day the democratic members held a caucus in the Hall of Representatives, remaining in session about three hours. Mr. Wood presided. There was a general discussion on the Senate joint resolution for a committee to investigate affairs in the South, it being suspected by several of the speakers that the words therein, "to report at any time," might be construcd by the majority of the committee as authorizing them to report at the present session, and that they might do so briefly and introduce a till relative to Southern affairs. A copy of the Senate resolution having been procured, it was argued by other gentlemen that the language was not susceptie of such a construction.

Mr. Cox offered a resolution that the caucus agree 30 vote for the Senate joint resolution. Mr. Campbell offered an amendment, to concur in the resolution, with a modification that the commitsee shall not report before next December. Mr. Cox accepted the amendment. Mr. Young moved that the resolution he rejected but the motion was disagreed to and Mr. Cox's re-If the joint resolution shall not be so amended by the House the democrats will be considered free to vote for or against it in its original form. Adjournment of Congress.

There seems to be an increasing disposition on the part of the republicans to adjourn next week, the democrats being sure to help them in so doing. Interest on Legal Tenders.

York, representing two hundred millions of capital, have recently in a formal manner requested the Secretary of the Treasury to submit for the consideration of the present Congress a plan for the redemption or conversion of the present legal tender notes by issuing therefor, at the option of the holders, bonds of the denomination of $1,000, and its multiple to be made payable on demand in said legal tender notes, which shall be held for the purpose of such reconversion, the bonds to bear interest at the rate of 3.65-100ths per cent per appum, and also that permission be granted to the national banks to count said bonds in the reserve required to be kept by law. Petition of Ex-Officers of the Army for

The officers of the army who have been mustered out of service under the act of Congress passed last July, feeling themselves injured in consequence, are making combined effort to secure such legislation as will give them redress. Private meetings of that class of officers have been held here to determine what course shall be pursued. If Congress does not adlourn very soon they hope to obtain the speedy passage of a bill to meet their case. With that end in view a number of the officers, on behalf of all those who have been mustered out, as stated, have prepared the following memorial, in which they

those who have been mustered out, as stated, have prepared the following memorial, in which they present their case to Congress:—

Having been mustered out of the military service of the United States under the provisions of an act making appropriations for the support of the army for the year ending June 30, 1871, and for other purposes, approved July 18, 1870, and feeling ourselves unjustly treated and aggrieved, we do, for the following reasons, most respectfully and earnestly memorialize your honorable bodies to take some action having in view our restoration to the army. Under the provisions of this act about 180 officers have been discharged the services who have served the country faltifully and well for periods ranging from eight to forty years, and many who won their commissions on the lattle field during the late rebellion. Quite a number of these efficies of Mexico and during the late rebellion. Quite a number of these efficies of Mexico and during the late rebellion. Reinstatement of Discharged Army Officers. Senator Nve introduced a bill this morning pro-riding that all officers of the United States Army who were mustered out under the provisions of the act of Congress approved July 15, 1870, be reinstated, provided that they be assigned according to the re-spective grades and seniority held by them at the time of muster out to vacancies in the staff and re-spective arm of the service to which they formerly belonged, as such vacancies now exist or may occur hereafter, and that no further promotions be made until these officers are so assigned; and further provided that such officers so reinstated shall receive no pay until the date of such assignment, and that all acts or parts of acts conflicting with the above e repealed. Deputy Sheriff Raymond, of New London, with a posse, was sent for and reached Colchester about three o'clock P. M., but, owing to the threatening appearance of the rioters, sent for reinforcements and postponed action. It is expected that an attempt will be made to-morrow to attach the property and there are fears of a bloody collision. The laborere have not been paid since January and say they will not permit the property to be taken.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD:-It has come to my knowledge that the government of this republic wishes to purchase several small gunboats for "revenue cutters" at an early day. recling that our countrymen can sell them as cheap and as substantial and complete as any European country, I desire to call this opportunity to general attention through the columns of your national journal. It would be a good thing in many ways for an American to secure this contract. My advice to shipowners and shipbuilders is at once to forward plans and specifications to the President of this republic at quito. Let them state their price for one gunboat of small size and and what deduction they will make in case half a dozen are purchased. Put the price as low as possible, for a big market is being rapidly opened up here, and the man who gets the first contract will secure many more before he is done. Such a sale would help American interests wonderfully in these parts. And even if each individual who offers cannot secure the contract, he can at least show the President of Ecuador what we are doing and can de in the ship making line, and that in all the many kinds of contracts which he is now making for Ecuador, we can do as well as England, France, Germany or "any other man." Vice President—R. J. McCulough, Clayfield county, secretary—W. H. Williams, Luzerne county, anracite region.

Treasurer—Lemuel Evans, of Bedford county,

Treasurer—Lemmer Evans, of Bedford county, bituminous region.

The delegates express themselves as much pleased with the result of the meeting. When the organization shall have oven perfected and the men all sufficiently trained into a better understanding of each other's wants it is possible the suspention will become general in both anthracite and bituminous regions.

The decided shift hall gave the chairman of the committee last night warned Gowen that he must be more caution, so he goes on now with the reins in his own hands. His great endeavor is to fasten upon the miners. The charges of murder and conspiracy at first made against them, but amply disproved.

To accomplish this he called upon the stand to-day a colher of Shamaken, who testified that his works were run and worked by independents, but that the Workingmen's Benevolent Association had interfered with them and when threats did not prevail had outraged and murdered them. These charges were dealt out by this mild mannered patriarch quite freely, but under the microscopic cross questioning of Mr. Hall, the bugaboo stories shrank into mere grandmothers' taies. Other withesses, undetarred by the ludicrous discomfune of this romancer, included in somewhat similar varns, but found them spun into shreds by Mr. Hill's keen points and queries.

The result at Johnstown come upon the railroaders here like bombsheils, as they had expected downight repudiation from the bituminous against the miners.

OBITUARY.

Chief Engineer Andrew Lawton, United States Navy.

A telegram from Philadelphia reports the death, on yesterday morning, of Chief Engineer Andrew Lawton, of the United States Navy. The deceased officer was a native of Massachusetts, from which State he was appointed to the naval service in June, 1850, as third assistant engineer. He served on the coast survey in 1550, and on board the steamer Water Witch, at tached to the Home Squadron, during the Ioliowing year. On the 26th of February, 1851, he was promoted to the rank of second assistant engineer. During 1852-3 he served on the frigate Saranac, and in the latter year was commissioned a first assistant engineer. In 1854-5 Engineer Lawton was on coast survey duty, and the three subsequent years were spent with the East India Squadron, on board the steam frigate San Jacanto. At the outbreak of the wer the deceased, who had in 1859 attained the rank of chief engineer, was on special duty in Boston, from which he was taken and assigned to duty on the steam sloop Hartford, with the West Gulf blockading squadron. He served with credit in the naval operations during 1861. In 1862 he was transferred to shore duty at Taunton, Mass. in 1863-64 was on special duty at Boston, and in 1865 was at Wilmington, Del. The last sea service of Engineer Lawton was on beard the Harthord, flagship of the Askatic squadron, from 1866 to 1868. In 1869 he was ordered to the Philadelphia Navy Yard, where he remained en duty up to the time of his death. Engineer Lawton was an able, zealous officer, and his loss to the service will be severely leit. the coast survey in 1550, and on board the steamer

The Workingmen's Union had a rather stormy seasion last evening. The committee recommended that no additional re-The committee recommended that no additional representation be given them, and wished that this should be established as a precedent in relation to all co-operative bodies, whom they regard as bosses rather than workingmen. Upon the question of adopting the report a long and very stormy discussion ensued, in the course of which Mr. Young, on benaif of the co-operative printers, essayed to address the meeting. The privilege of the floor was not accorded to him. Among the members there were many who opposed the adoption of the report on the grounds that such action on their part would be accepted as an evidence that they were opposed to the formation of co-operative bodies at any time by members of the association.

During the course of the discussion a good deal of acceptity was displayed by the speakers on both sides—the friends and opponents of the measure sought to be introduced questioning the motives governing each other's opinions.

In the midst of the confusion, when the chairman, Mr. Gridm, sought in vain to restore order, he said, "Would it be necessary that he should use the language of a blackguard is order to get a hearing? If so, he would."

king of Spain had caused the alrest of Duke serrano, the former Regent of Spain, and makes the following comments:

What reasons the King had for taking this step is not known. Some people suppose that the arrest of this mighty man was on well grounded suspictions of his being implicated in the murder of Prim. It is well known that Prim was assassinated but a very short time before the King set foot on Spanish soil. Many then said that the King maker had left the busy scene of life in the nick of time for the new king, and as the mystery which surrounded the murder of Prim has not yet been solved, the same people will now give out that the King had likewise found out in convenient time how to get rid of the other king maker by discovering in him one of the accomplices in that murder. This is all very fine reasoning, but does not agree with the favorable reports of the young King's loyalty, and with the assertions of the English papers, that he was then still in incognition Madrid. The whole business has, however, a very serious look. Was, perhaps, the last attempt to assassinate Minister Zorilla only made to get rid of him as one of the witnesses or accemplices? The attempt failed, and now Serrano has, it is alleged, been found out as the murderer of Prim. Has the ungrateful ravortic of Queen Isabella met with his well-merited doom? For when all the Spaniards rose against the Queen he, of all men, should never have Joined the rebels. The whole affair may be characterized as Spanish black cloak and dagger business.

A tender-voiced organ welled up last night amid a genue storm of juvenile choral singing; and, from the common school up to the "Star Spangled Banner," the younkers, male and female, did their best to make the experiment a success. Fond papas and mammas said it was a success, which of course they are free to maintain. Our candid opinion is that of pleasure in the promise of Mr. Harley Newcomb to give the juveniles a rest.

There was a large attendance, but not an over-crowded house. Miss Nilsson, though evidently suffering from the effect of the departing induences of a cold, was in excellent voice. In the air "Rejoice gready" she manifested her ancient fire and sung as well as she has ever sung. The audience applauded with the old enthusiasm and the Swedish vocalist resumed her seat with the glow of conquest on her brow. Miss Cary—niways a favorite with a Brooklyn audience—sang her allotted part with a superb completeness. In clearness of expression that left nothing to be desired. Those who have from the first put their trust in the musical greatness and proficiency of Miss Cary will not be disappointed, and may be proud of the confidence with which they bespoke her growing popularity. Miss Pauline Carsina, the second soprano, sang "Come Unto Me." with a little tremor, but which she lost altogether near the close, and was loudly applauded, as she thoroughly deserved to be. Mr. Whitney and Mr. Sunpson were the remaining soloists, and were, as usual, good. The chorus, under the direction of Mr. Burton, rendered all the choruses effectively and without any hitch. convention of delegates from the professional base ball clubs of the country was held at No. 840 Broadway last evening. At the time the call for the convention was sent out its objects were stated to be the settlement of the manner of and the arrangement of the routes of the club tours during the season. But the action of the amateur clubs in withdrawing from the National Association, in which both professional and amateur clubs had been represented, and their organization of an exclusive convention, caused the scope of the Convention's duties to be enlarged, and, in the opinion of a majority of the delegates, made necessary the reorganization of the National Association on a professional basis. This idea was for a time combated by those delegates who did not conceive themselves to be clothed with power further than to carry out the original objects of the Convention, until a clause necessitating its approval by their clubs was appended to the resolution carrying it into effect. All the delegates with the exception of Mr. Davidson, secretary of the Mutual Club, who withdrew for a time from the proceedings of the convention because of the "gabning" of an officious director of his club, then voted for the passage of the resolution, and the convention became known as the "National Association of Professional Base Bail Players." SIR—My attention has been called to a letter written by Miss Lucitle Western, which appears in the HERALD of the 14th inst., wherein it seems I have been accused of riding in Harlem lane in the company of Miss Western and some fast young men.

The author of this scandal, it seems, is one Dr. Fuller Walker. The worthy Doctor, in his zeal for Fuller Walker. The worthy Doctor, in his zeal for the public good, or rather, I should imagine, in his desire to beneif himself by being brought before the public as a lecturer and thus obtain a chean advertisement, has intentionally uttered two little fics. In the first place, I never to my knowledge met Miss Western; and in the second place, I am not acquainted with any last young men.

Had this advertiser simply mentioned my name I should probably have paid no attention to an assertion that few would credit; but as Miss Western is associated with me in this matter I think it due to that lady to make this denial.

I never go into any society, but devote myself entirely to my professional duttes. I am, yours tirely to my professional LYDIA THOMESON.

BOSTON BANKERS.

Bank Officials Arrested for Embez E. C. Daniell, late cashler of the Webster National ank, was arrested yesterday and held in the sum of $10,000 bail, charged with embezzling the funds of that institution.

Henry W. Pitman, late teller of the North National Bank, accused of embezzlement, was arrested about the same time and held to answer. Both arrests were made by United States officers.

THE PLATE ISON TRADE.

PHILADELPHIA, March 17, 1871. A meeting of boiler plate manufacturers was held to-day at the Continental Hotel, when representatives were present from all prominent firms in Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware. It was resolved to advance the price of plate fron of all grades three-eighths of a cent per pound. This advance has been forced upon the manufacturers by the recent strike among the miners in Schuylkili county and the consequent increase in the price of pig metal.

THE FRESHET SOUTH.

Railroad Communication Interrupted in Mis-MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 17, 1871.

The damage to railroads by the freshet is much greater than reported last night. It will probably be several days yet before trains can go through on any of the roads, as all have suffered severely by the wasting away of trestles, bridges and embank-ments. The tracks in many places are still sub-merged. Two through trains from New Orieans are stationary between breaks.

BEATH OF A POLICE SERGEANT.

Sergeant Horace Roberts, of the Sixteenth precinct, died at his residence last night.
